FOSSIL-LIKE OBJECTS PHOTOGRAPHED ON MARS

A report of bone-like objects photographed by the Mars Curiosity rover appeared on the Daily Express website on July 20th:

Are 'fossils and prehistoric tools found in NASA images' proof of 'life on Mars'?
By Jon Austin

The footage allegedly discovered potentially fossilised remains of creatures exposed in rocks on the Red Planet and prehistoric tools. The rover, a robot-like all-terrain vehicle, is charting Mars with close-up images which are regularly beamed back to the American space agency's headquarters, with some released publicly.

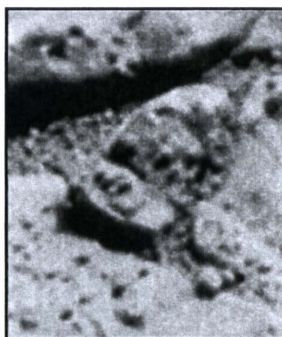

Is the the object (right) found in Mars picture a fossilised version of a bone found on Earth (left). YouTube channel Martian Archaeology is collating videos made by "researchers" who trawl through images and footage looking for apparent traces of any current or former occupation of the planet by extra terrestrials.

Ever since the Viking Orbiter caught the famous image of what looked like a martian face carved into stone on the surface of Mars in the 1970s, people have been finding examples of remnants left by alien civilisations on the Red Planet within its rocky, dusty surface.

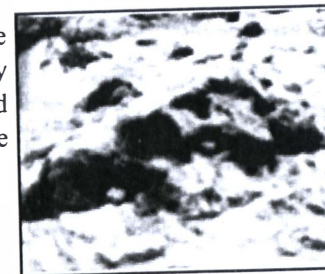

Scientists say pareidolia - the brain's automatic reaction to trick the eye into seeing faces and familiar objects such as animal shapes in patterns, textures, or clouds. But in one new video made by Alien Life, it is claimed there are skeletal remains in a rock, and a Humanoid-made device.

US UFO hunter Scott C Waring, who viewed the clip said: "This fossil was discovered by Martian Archeology of YouTube. "He found the fossilised remains of a creature on Mars."

Mr Waring said: "It's hard to tell what this looked like originally, but some of its remains are a little way away from it, at the lower part of the photo. Also I found something that is bowl shaped and has a hinge on the end of it. It is made by intelligent beings."

COLONEL HALT WOODBRIDGE BRIEFING

by Lionel Beer

Saturday 11th July 2015

I was invited to attend by the organiser, John Hanson. John with his partner Dawn is the publisher of the Haunted Skies series of encyclopedic UFO books, which have now reached volume eleven! The meeting was held in the Woodbridge Community Hall, which is conveniently next to Woodbridge railway station. The entrance fee was listed at £20.

The first person I spoke to in a local pub had flown from the Isle of Man. Another man had come down from Scotland. Probably over 100 people attended so accommodation was sold out locally. Most people that I spoke to seemed well versed on the Rendlesham events of 1980 and what had happened subsequently. M.C. for the evening was David Bryant, who is a polymath and has had two books published this year. He is a friend of Lionel Fanthorpe and claims to have met over thirty astronauts. David runs a meteorite and space memorabilia business. The stage was decorated with the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack flags. Around the hall were hundreds of postcard size photos mounted on boards. These lacked captions but many had been taken by Brenda Butler in Rendlesham Forest, where she and her partner frequently go walking. Some showed "orbs" and a few included albino deer.

The meeting started at 7pm and David introduced me to the audience. I was not warned about the head-mic which was difficult to use. Anyway I told the audience about the start of BUFORA, the UFO course in 1979 at Morley College which made national TV news when there were only four channels, and how County Hall in London stopped me continuing the course when the first term ended. No-one seemed interested in the steam railway society that I founded in 2003, which operates trains at Kempton every Sunday.

Dot Street and Brenda Butler were kept busy signing copies of Sky Crash, which they co-authored with Jenny Randles. Both ladies addressed the meeting. David Bryant gave a detailed talk on his interest in UFOs, space and talking with various astronauts. Seems that even aging astronauts forget important details!

Lead speaker at 9pm was Colonel Charles Halt (USAF retired). He was shorter than I expected. He had been flown over for this event and stayed in a local hotel. He spoke without emotion about his time at RAF Woodbridge and how events had panned out at Christmas, 1980. Seems that the UFO or whatever it was had interrupted Christmas partying on the base. Charles Halt said the lights seen in the forest manifested in various colours. So I concluded that this discredited Ian Ridpath's views that it was the Orford lighthouse.

Now I had been warned that Larry Warren, co-author of Left at Eastgate (one of some dozen books about the Rendlesham affair; there could be more) was not "flavour of the month". Charles Halt listed pages and spelt out in detail items he considered to be factually in error. He said that Larry Warren was not present at one event, and implied that he had exaggerated some details. Col. Halt's talk was filmed so it is all on record.

The speakers finished about 11pm and the hall was cleared before midnight. I went for a walk to the quay by the estuary to clear my head. By the station two young policeman with traditional helmets were talking to some lively young ladies. One tried on a helmet, dropped it on the ground and apologised profusely.

When I got to my car around midnight, Brenda called to me from her car. After a brief chat the two policemen seen earlier arrived to find out what we were doing there. They seemed unfazed that we had attended a big UFO meeting in the hall, and soon Brenda and her partner were happily chatting away to them. Brenda even pulled out a couple of panels of her photos in the forest to show them. But difficult to view in a dark car park! While recognising that policemen have a job to do, these two stayed much longer than they needed to and seemed genuinely interested. Next morning I drove down to the small village of Orford and was impressed with the extent of the Rendlesham and adjacent forests. So it seems that UFO meetings are not quite dead and one is planned for Warminster in August.

Footnote: Charles Halt indicated that he remains mystified by the events of Christmas 1980.

Rendlesham Forest UFO sighting 'new evidence' claim

New evidence has been gathered to back up claims a UFO landed near a US airbase in Suffolk, a former deputy commander has claimed.

Col Charles Halt told the BBC he saw unidentified objects at Rendlesham Forest in December 1980.

He says he now has statements from radar operators at RAF Bentwaters and nearby Wattisham airfield that an unknown object was tracked at the time.

Col Halt claimed it was seen by himself and base security staff.

The 75-year-old, who was deputy commander at the Bentwaters base and now lives in the US state of Virginia, said some former service people had not wanted to speak until they retired but had now provided written statements to him.

The Ministry of Defence told the BBC it no longer deals with reports of UFOs.

"I have confirmation that (Bentwaters radar operators)... saw the object go across their 60 mile (96km) scope in two or three seconds, thousands of miles an hour, he came back across their scope again, stopped near the water tower, they watched it and observed it go into the forest where we were," said Col Halt.

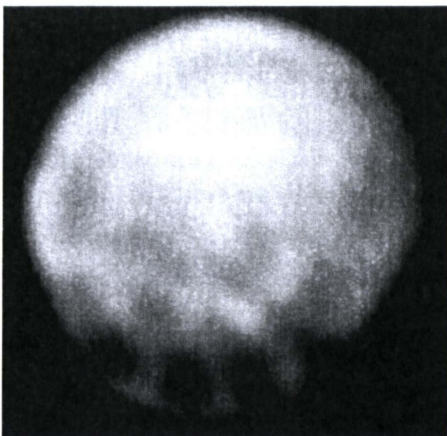

"At Wattisham, they picked up what they called a 'bogie' and lost it near Rendlesham Forest. Whatever was there was clearly under intelligent control."

UFO researcher John Hanson said he found Col Halt to be a reliable witness and there had been a "concerted effort to hide the truth".

He said the evidence of the UFO being picked up by radar seriously undermined the suggestion by the government at the time that the reported phenomena was due to witnesses seeing the light from Orfordness lighthouse and misinterpreting what they saw.

Pluto mystery: Four huge identical 'holes' found on dwarf planet

Tyler Glockner, who runs the Secureteam YouTube UFO channel, has released a video entitled: "Mysterious Pluto Anomalies...Alien Ship or Dwarf Planet?" Over recent images of Pluto released by Nasa, he says: "What is going on with Pluto? I ask this after seeing the Nasa new New Horizons images. I am literally questioning whether this thing is actually a planet or something else. You can immediately make out anomalies - lines and structures."

He pointed out four dark circular areas towards the bottom of the dwarf planet, which Nasa says are 300 miles each across. Even Nasa's own experts are baffled by the astonishing regularity of the holes.

Glockner goes further adding: "These are four perfect holes, sitting side by side. What other moon, planet or dwarf planet has such anomalies? What is Nasa's explanation. I can't wait to hear it. They call it a dwarf planet, but I am not sure. This thing is very mysterious. I don't think something is right here."

Calvine photograph covered up

Former MoD UFO investigator turned whistleblower Nick Pope claims pictures of the "Calvine UFO" were not released to the National Archives with the first set of the ministry's UFO files released in 2009 as should have happened.

In August 1990, two hikers were walking in the Scottish Highlands, close to Calvine, north of Pitlochry, when the incredible aircraft appeared hovering over the remote landscape.

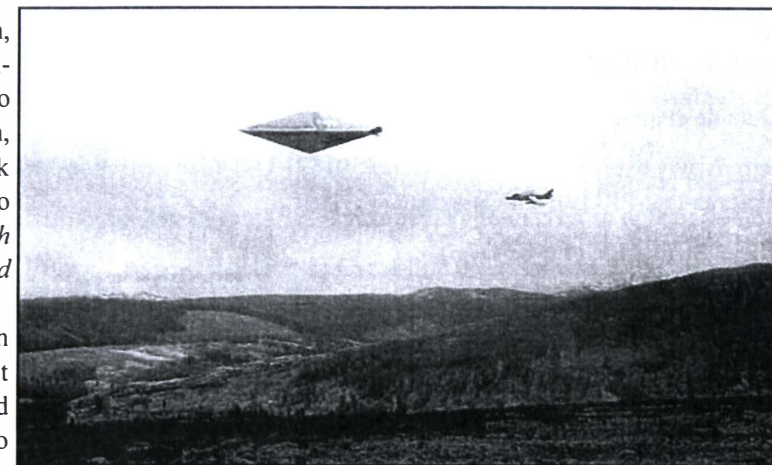

For about ten minutes they watched and took six colour photographs, before it sped off into the distance.

The pair said during the incident, a number of military jets were seen making a series of low-level passes.

At least one of the jets was also caught by them on camera.

Mr Pope and Channel 5 have reconstructed the image for a detailed report of the alleged cover up which will be broadcast on Friday.

The men, whose identities are no longer known, allegedly took the camera to the Scottish Daily Record newspaper, who in turn allegedly sent the pictures and the negatives to the MoD.

Reconstructed Calvine photograph

Mr Pope became chief investigator for the team at the MoD, which was investigating the UFO phenomenon at the time.

He said: "The Defence Intelligence staff sent these images to JARIC that's the Joint Air Reconnaissance and Intelligence Centre. Now this is the UK's military centre of expertise when it comes to imagery analysis. These Intelligence personnel came to the conclusion that these photographs are real – it's a solid craft and no one has the faintest idea what it is."

MoD UFO files now with the National Archive recorded that the images were scrutinised by the ministry, with the jet identified as a Harrier and they were also able to spot a second Harrier in other shots.

Mr Pope, who investigated sightings for the MoD until 2009, said a blow up of the best shot had pride of place on a wall in the department, and later went behind his desk as his rank grew.

He said visitors would come into the section, see it, and ask what it was taken. He replied that: "It was the best UFO photo we ever received." But Mr Pope said an "internal cover-up" over the image later began.

He said: "One day my Head of Division came in, and he removed it. I don't know whether it was sent somewhere else for safe keeping or someone else on his behalf put it through the shredder but whatever happened when the MoD opened its UFO files, questions were asked about that picture and the answer was "Well we don't know. It's gone."

It was after the head had convinced himself the craft was a secret, prototype US aircraft or drone, Mr Pope said. But he claims this was after "we'd just received assurances from the appropriate US authorities that they weren't testing anything like that in the UK."

Outside evidence of the photograph's existence has also disappeared.

Clearer footage of a UFO?

Two UFO spotters, claiming to have recorded the sighting, have posted images of a small dome-like Unidentified Flying Object.

The video put up online by YouTube channel Thirdphaseofmoon claimed the craft was about the size of a "four-wheel drive vehicle".

There are widespread reports online that the channel releases hoax videos with claims it has been shown to use CGI technology to create the effects.

The two Quintero and Jose Salvador, said they were using high-definition equipment, and it was flying between 300 to 500 feet

The video online pans in and out, showing the object as little more than a dot, to a remarkably close-up "flying saucer".

Many viewers believe it is just a clever hoax, or they have filmed a drone, military craft, or a remote-controlled toy.

However, some genuine alien researchers are convinced it could be a craft piloted by extra terrestrials from another dimension.

In the video the presenter interviews a Dr J, a so-called UFO expert. The presenter is convinced it is real, saying: "Look at it, there is just too much going on to be an artefact of effect."

Dr J initially says it must be a hoax, but later says: "I like it. That is awesomely fantastic. I'm blown away".

Angela Merkel forced to release secret UFO files

Following a number of years of legal wrangling, the German Supreme Administrative Court in Leipzig ordered the German Bundestag to release confidential documents about UFOs, that it had tried to keep hidden.

The news has been welcomed by UFO researchers already buoyed by news that the UK Ministry of Defence (MOD) will release 18 confidential UFO files to the National Archive next March, although it is still not known when they will be available to the public.

In 2008 then German Minister of the Interior Dr Wolfgang Schäuble insisted the German government had never investigated the topic and had no interest in doing so.

However, two years later Robert Fleischer of Exopolitic.org discovered that the scientific service of the German parliament had a department investigating the possibility of extraterrestrial intelligence and UFOs.

German blogger Frank Reitemeyer took the Bundestag to court, which fought against the release until now.

Information which must be released is an international summary of facts about UFOs and the search for aliens and details of a United Nations (UN) resolution to set up an international UFO research agency.

In a video statement, Lions Ground Entertainment Group, which makes paranormal films posted on YouTube, said: "The news is a breakthrough for all UFO hunters and UFO investigators."

But others fear the records could be quite dry.

One YouTube user said: "Call me cynical, but when a government is ordered to hand over docs, I'm skeptical the real original documents will ever be handed over."

Airline passenger films apparent UFO over the Alps

A passenger aboard a commercial airliner over the Alps in Switzerland airspace recently captured footage of an apparent flying object.

It looks something like an Adamski craft with some kind of glowing halo.

The extraordinary personal testimony of George Van Tassel's experience as an early contactee. He started hosting group meditation in 1953 in a room underneath Giant Rock excavated by Frank Critzer, a prospector. That year, according to Van Tassel the occupant of a space ship from the planet Venus woke him up, invited him on board his space ship, and both verbally and telepathically gave him a technique for rejuvenating the human body. In 1954, Van Tassel and others began building what they called the "Integratron", to perform the rejuvenation. According to Van Tassel, the Integratron was to be a structure for scientific research into time, anti-gravity and at extending human life, built partially upon the research of Nikola Tesla and Georges Lakhovsky. Van Tassel described the Integratron as being created for scientific and spiritual research with the aim to recharge and rejuvenate people's cells, "a time machine for basic research on rejuvenation, anti-gravity and time travel". The domed wood structure has a rotating metal apparatus on the outside he called an "electrostatic dirod". Van Tassel claimed it was made of non ferromagnetic; constructed of only wood, concrete, glass and fibre-glass lacking even metal screws or nails. The Integratron was never fully completed due to Van Tassel's sudden death a few weeks before the official opening. In recent times some people who visit the unfinished Integratron claim to be rejuvenated by staying there, and experiencing sound baths inside.

Rare film of new flying saucer type: Adamski revisited

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PU5Db7GvKtI>

Glenn Steckling had a special treat in store for visitors to the 2014 International UFO Congress: film of the successor to the famous Adamski bell-shaped scout craft. The Director of the international Adamski Foundation showed his spellbound audience the cinematic proof of George Adamski's regular contact with benign extraterrestrials in the 1950s and 60s.

This included the more advanced football-shaped lenticular ships, which are capable of interplanetary flight. The commercial airline pilot told of his great dismay at the vast distortion of historical facts concerning the contactees and the original peaceful message and offer of help which came from the human extraterrestrials, who are concerned with the divisive and destructive nature of current Earth society. He explained how the Military Industrial Complex has been deliberately keeping the true nature of the friendly ETs away from the general public, while encouraging Hollywood and the mass media to peddle either ridicule or an aggressive alien scenario, which promotes paranoia and insecurity and the continuation of a weapons-based economy. Glenn also reveals a humorous side to the Space Brothers, as he recalls an incident which gave two intelligence agents the fright of their lives outside his family's home.

THE HIDDEN UNITY and BEGINNINGS

The Hidden Unity looks at the strange phenomenon of subconscious siting of ley points, and notes that places of worship, of all religions and all ages, tend to predominate on leys. The environmental and philosophical implications of this are discussed, and the apparent necessity of worship but irrelevance of doctrine. Two ley centres are given as examples, and investigated in depth - the Shah Jehan Mosque in Woking and the Guru Nanak Sikh Temple, Scunthorpe. There is an appendix by Eileen Grimshaw on the significance of the Pagan religion to this study. Illustrated with photographs, maps and line drawings.

Beginnings is about a series of potentially useful discoveries, mainly made by Jimmy Goddard over a period of about twenty years, but having some overlap with discoveries made by others. For various reasons, the investigations are all in their early stages, and some have not been continued. They include earth energy detection, natural antigravity, subconscious siting, ley width, and the solar transition effect. There is also a chapter on cognitive dissonance - a psychological factor which seems to have been at the root of all bigotry - scientific, religious and other - down the ages. The booklet is concluded with an account of the discovery of leys by Alfred Watkins. £2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

EARTH PEOPLE, SPACE PEOPLE

In 1961, Tony Wedd produced a manuscript Earth Men, Space Men, detailing many claims of extraterrestrial contact. It was never published, and I had thought it was lost, though it has recently been located - Tony had given it to Timothy Good. To try to make up for the loss in a much more modest size, this booklet was prepared. As well as giving details of some of the more prominent contact claims, there are articles on the history of the STAR Fellowship and some of its personalities, evidence for life in the Solar System and investigation into extraterrestrial language.
